

NICE Investigate Xpress™

Digital Evidence Management

Enabling Continuity of Police Operations in Response to COVID-19

For investigators and officers, interpersonal contact is the nature of the job, but in a pandemic, effective policing necessitates limiting interactions. COVID-19 can linger on surfaces, including paper and plastic for days, which makes touching and handling of physical evidence risky.

NICE Investigate Xpress Addresses the Challenges Fast and Free

Offered as a cloud-based service that can be deployed in as little as 48 hours at no cost to your agency this year, NICE Investigate Xpress is a proven solution that eliminates face-to-face contact, and the need to physically handle digital evidence. It enables your investigators and other essential personnel to do much of their case-building and digital evidence management work remotely, to protect your staff while ensuring vital investigative work continues to get done.

• Remove the physical touch

Digital evidence stays digital, no need for CDs, USB drives or paper. Secure digital evidence remotely.

• Support social distancing

Investigators, analysts, video tech crews, discovery teams and comm bureau personnel can effectively work from home. Virus spread among units is reduced.
